Building the Public Health Workforce

Training is one thing, expanding and certifying new DIS is another. Let's take a step back for a moment. How did this all come to be? This session will focus on historic investments Congress has made in expanding the public health workforce. It's not just new funding for DIS, but billions in new funding that will transform the U.S. public health system. Colleagues of yours who work down the hall are also getting huge new funding – what does it mean for your work? Hear insights from two of our leading national public health experts from ASTHO and NACCHO!
